New bike, walking and jogging path at City Park

WHAT: Work is nearing completion on a one mile meandering bike, walking and jogging path that parallels Robert E. Lee between Marconi and Wisner.

The path is 10 feet wide and is part of a $5 million project financed by the Federal and State government.

Once the blacktop work is completed, the park will be planting a number of new trees along it via a generous donation from Shell.

WHY IT’S IMPORTANT: City Park’s master plan – City Park 2018 calls for a number of new biking and jogging paths within the park. The new path along Robert E. Lee is the first new path to be installed since the hurricane.
Workers lay a new 10 foot wide blacktop path in City Park.

City Park previously had 260 employees. Today it has 44. The park sustained $43 million in damages.
